Dear Municipal Clerk:

Last week we told you about an upcoming seminar about new State energy conservation initiatives. The date has been set - April 15. The place - the New Brunswick Hyatt, starting at 9:00 AM. The cost - free!

At this important session local officials can learn about important initiatives, incentives, and financing options for energy conservation, use of renewable sources such as solar power, and other initiatives to reduce energy and supporting the environment. Specifically, the session will cover:

- The BPU Local Government Energy Audit Program and BPU Energy Savings Incentive Programs
- Power Purchase Agreements for Renewables (c.83, PL 2008); how to obtain solar power for no capital cost
- Energy Savings Improvement Program (c. 4, PL 2009); pay for energy efficiency capital improvements by using savings to pay for the improvement
- Introduction to Sustainable Jersey; community efforts to reduce energy and improve the environment
- BPU CleanPower Community Partners; join a program to promote energy efficiency in your organization and community

This is an important session that will educate local officials about these new tools that can save money, reduce energy costs and use, and improve the quality of life in your community. Join the Board of Public Utilities, the Division of Local Government Services, the NJ State League of Municipalities, and the Sustainable Jersey Program to learn about how these programs can help your organization.
